

★ Synergy of online and offline investor relations services

The most effective partner to reach existing investors and develop new ones

Q for Quality

Quam IR formulates an IR program towards quality rather than quantity. We deliver the optimum results that match your objectives and maximize the return on IR activities.

U for Uniqueness

Because Quam IR understands your company and your niche, we offer companies a tailor-made strategic IR programme and customize a market positioning just right for you.

A for Ascendancy

Backed by a strong research team and with an extensive network in the investment community and financial media, Quam IR can effectively convey your company's message and latest developments to the right target audiences.

M for Multiplicity

Quam IR provides a total IR solution through both online and offline channels. We maximize your company's exposure via our comprehensive online IR platform, offering online TV interviews in Quamnet.com in Hong Kong/China and WorldInvestors.tv in Japan, a bi-monthly financial magazine Quam Money, announcement updates, stock quotes, flash news reports, and systematic, effective electronic communications to investors, analysts and media. Quam IR also provides listed companies' daily transaction summary reports, analytical research reports and arranges analyst meetings for listed companies as well as tailor-made events including roadshows, seminars, investor presentations and site visits.

I for International

With our strategic presence and affiliation in the region, including the PRC, Japan, Thailand, Dubai, the United States, Vietnam and Africa, and well-established relationships with regional financial media, Quam IR can take you to the international markets where your company can grow its recognition, reputation and investor base.

R for Readiness

The Quam IR team is always ready to serve you. We provide you with the most up-to-date information of all the happenings related to your company and provide you the most appropriate advice on investor issues in an ever changing market.
